Original recipe details to confirm

The mixed-spice blend, clove form, garlic-powder amount (source ?) and whole bay-leaf quantity remain unconfirmed. Confirm before using; no leaf count is assumed.

METHOD

1. PREPARE THE RECORDED INGREDIENTS
Chop 2 regular red peppers, 2 small onions and 5 garlic cloves. Open 2 × 680 mL tomato sauce, 2 × 284 mL tomato soup and 2 × 156 mL tomato paste. Measure 1 L Garden Cocktail.

2. SEASONINGS ARE A REFERENCE
Suggested: 1 tbsp paprika, 2¼ tsp curry, ¾ tsp cayenne, ½ tsp chili flakes, 1 tbsp Italian seasoning and 1½ tsp dried basil. Also listed earlier: 2 tbsp garlic powder, 1 tsp mixed spices and 1 tsp cloves; confirm the original details at left. Actual seasoning amounts used were not recorded.

3. BROWN THE MEAT
Following Mom’s method, lightly coat a roomy pot with oil as needed. Brown 1 kg pork + 2 lb beef, breaking up the meat and stirring often. Work in batches if crowded.

4. ADD & STIR
Reduce heat to medium-low. Add 2 red peppers, 2 small onions and 5 garlic cloves, then 1,360 mL tomato sauce, 568 mL tomato soup, 312 mL tomato paste and 1 L Garden Cocktail. Stir after each addition. Add your chosen seasonings; put whole bay leaves and any whole cloves in a removable spice bag. No dilution water is specified.

5. SIMMER GENTLY
Use the original method: simmer on low for 2–3 hours, stirring and scraping the bottom. Check more often near the end. Canned ingredients are already salty: start with much less than the suggested 2 tbsp salt and adjust gradually. Fresh basil as desired.

6. FINISH & SERVE
Remove the spice bag and every whole bay leaf or whole clove. Check ground meat reaches 71°C / 160°F with a thermometer. Finished yield was not measured. This batch has about 42% of the original meat, but the other ingredients use different proportions.
