METHOD

1. PREPARE EVERYTHING FIRST
Chop 2–3 red bell peppers and 2 large onions, plus garlic and other vegetables to taste. Open 3 × 680 mL tomato sauce, 3 cans tomato soup, 3 × 156 mL tomato paste and 2 × 945 mL vegetable juice before browning.

2. MEASURE THE SEASONINGS
Combine 4 tbsp salt, 1½ tsp cayenne, 1 tsp crushed pepper flakes, 2 tbsp paprika, 1½ tbsp curry powder, 4 tbsp garlic powder, 2 tsp mixed spices, 2 tbsp Italian seasoning, 2 tsp cloves, 2 tsp bay leaves and 1 tbsp basil. Read source notes: bay leaves are whole, but their written teaspoon measure needs confirmation. Enclose the whole bay leaves and any whole cloves in a removable spice bag.

3. BROWN THE MEAT
Coat the bottom of a very large pot with oil. Over high heat, cook 5 lb lean ground beef + 5 lb lean ground pork, stirring constantly and breaking up the meat until no red or pink remains. See the modern safety check below.

4. ADD PROMPTLY & STIR
Reduce heat to medium-low. Add the prepared 2–3 peppers, 2 onions, garlic and other vegetables, then 2,040 mL tomato sauce, 3 cans tomato soup, 468 mL tomato paste, 1,890 mL vegetable juice and prepared seasonings. Stir after every addition. No extra water is specified.

5. SIMMER GENTLY
Reduce to low and cook 2–3 hours, stirring occasionally to prevent sticking. Fresh basil as desired. The source gives no lid position. Remove the spice bag and any whole cloves or bay leaves before serving.

6. MODERN SAFETY & YIELD NOTES
Cook beef/pork through to 71°C / 160°F, checked with a thermometer; colour alone is not a doneness test. Estimated yield: 8–10 L, roughly 16–20 portions of 500 mL. Measure the finished sauce; pot, lid and simmer affect yield.
